Hannah C. Hall estimates that she has read approximately 4,500 bedtime stories to her children over the last few years. She is thankful to get to add her own books to their daily rotation. Hannah and her husband, Josh, have five children and live in a small town in Arkansas. Steve Whitlow lives in northern England, on the top of a (very) windswept hill, with his wife and young family. Steve followed his artistic calling from an early age and was first published at age 16, producing vibrant characters for greeting cards and then children's publishing. With no formal art training and only his natural talent, Steve has now been working as a professional artist for more than twenty years. "My kids are my critics," says Steve. "The best reaction I can hope for is an exclamation of 'Cool, Dad!' from either Sam or Ethan or both."

I am a huge lover of fall, so I added this book to our daughter's library. The artwork and story are so beautiful! It's my new favorite bedtime book to read! I'm a big fan of the "God Bless" books, and I will definitely be adding more of them to our library. It's so nice to have biblically based books to read to our daughter.

My daughter loves these books and honestly I love all of the God Bless Our books as well. My husband and I enjoy reading them to her I think just as much as she likes having them read. They are SO well written for children's books and the pictures are adorable. I'll buy any of these they write.

This book is cute but I don't think I would have purchased it had I read it first. There isn't really a story line & I feel like the book doesn't flow.

We love this whole series. Great books!

I think this one of Hannah Hall's is my favorite!

Love to read these books with my children!!!

Title: God Bless Our Fall
Author: Hannah C. Hall
Illustrator: Steve Whitlow
Publisher: Tommy Nelson
ISBN: 978-0-529-12333-6
"From crunchy leaves to Mama's squeezeTo pumpkins big and small, We thank Him for all this and more And say, 'God bless our fall!' Hannah C. Hall writes in her children's book, God Bless Our Fall. Part of the God Bless series, this twenty-page hardbound with a padded cover and rounded edges targets preschool to early elementary school aged children who enjoy fanciful tales of animals while they learn about God. With no scary scenes, some of the complicated words should be read out loud to beginner readers. There are no references to Bible verses, but the book's focus is on God and His blessings. Illustrator Whitlow's designs are colorful and expressive, covering the full pages as they draw readers into the rhymes. In this short book of rhymes, the topic of the season of fall is shown through cute, adorable animals. With four lines on every other page that rhyme, the scenes depict leaves falling, pumpkins growing, roasting marshmallows, going to a harvest festival, baking, and enjoying the season of cuddling and coziness. Reminding the reader that God decorates what He creates, puppy dogs roam, raccoons stay warm, squirrels cuddle, pumpkins are carved, foxes sleep cozily, moles dine in their dens, pigs join in the fun, kitties cook, and hedgehogs play in leaves. But most importantly, all the animals thank God that He has blessed the changing season. From the padded cover with shiny red leaf overlays to the animals all watching a bonfire, the book would be engaging for the preschool child who loves to look at furry friends or the beginner reader pronouncing words. Although no Bible verses or the eternal plan of salvation mentioned, this book is a perfect bedtime story or gift for a young one who likes to sit on someone's lap and be read to out loud. Hopefully, the author will be introducing the three other seasons in books dedicated to God blessing us and all He has made. Lover of God, writer Hall is a bestselling author and award-winning blogger who devotes her time to her worship pastor husband and four young children. Artist Whitlow is a freelance illustrator specializing in children's books with cute, fanciful, fun, and furry animals. "Let's cuddle up around the fire

And warm our little feet.
The cider's hot and hits the spot.
The s'mores are gooey sweet." God Bless Our Fall is a sweet little board book for children written in poetry form. It goes through all the fun activities people often experience in the fall like the changing colors of the leaves, pumpkin carving, hay rides, baking, outdoor fires, harvest festivals, and jumping in leaf piles. Different animals are featured in each of the different activities, which adds another element of education and fun to the picture book. God is mentioned many times. Children learn that God is the creator of fall. The author thanks God and asks Him to bless our fall. The book is aesthetically pleasing and the text is easy to read. It would be a fun book to add some American Sign Language to while you read it to your little ones. I like having another book about seasons to add to our collection. I recommend this book to parents of early readers. The text is rhyming, so it would be a good book to work on those reading skills. It would also be a great book to include when teaching children about God and His creation, because of all the different illustrations of animals, nature, and foods. God bless you all in this new fall season, Beth Disclosure statement: I received this book free from BookLook Bloggers in exchange for my review. I was not required to give a favorable review. The thoughts and opinions expressed here are entirely my own.
