Traditional Acupuncture: The Law Of The Five Elements

Synopsis

An explanation of the Five Elements (Wood, Fire, Earth, Metal, Water), and their use in the treatment room. Dr. Connelly shows how traditional acupuncture can make a difference, both in our moment-to-moment appreciation of life and in the way we hold life's bigger picture. Includes a description of the examination done before acupuncture treatment, as well as many case examples. Requires no technical knowledge; fine for the general reader interested in acupuncture and health.

Customer Reviews

Dianne Connelly's first book is a wonderful walk 'round the circle of the Five Elements whose gifts only deepen with the passing of the seasons. --John Sullivan, Ph.D. Dianne Connelly's touch is sensitive and precise; her sense of interweaving elements is simply beautiful. --New Age Retailer

Dr. Connelly is a co-founder of the Institute and has been a practitioner of traditional acupuncture since 1973. She received her Master's qualification from the College of Traditional Chinese Acupuncture (U.K.) in 1979. She obtained a Ph.D. in cross-cultural medicine from Union Graduate School in 1975, an M.A. from New York University of Education in 1968, and her B.A. from LeMoyne College in 1967. Dr. Connelly has served as a Commissioner of the Accreditation Commission for Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine. She conducts workshops nationwide and lectures annually in Germany and Italy. Dr. Connelly is the author of Traditional Acupuncture: The Law of the Five Elements (1975), All Sickness is Homesickness (1986), and with Katharine Hancock Porter, Alive and Awake (2003). She is the mother of Blaize, Jade, and Caeli.

Great insight into the five elements

This book had my attention with the first sentence. It was recommended by a fellow massage therapist.

Great read

Great content!

The book is nicely laid out and very well written. All the elements are covered and give great examples of case studies

very basic. mainly for students

Good condition

Great service! A+
